Design System

- Moodboards

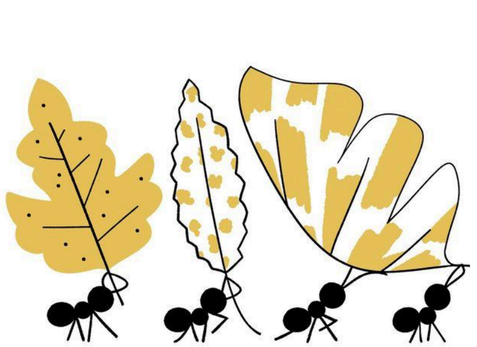
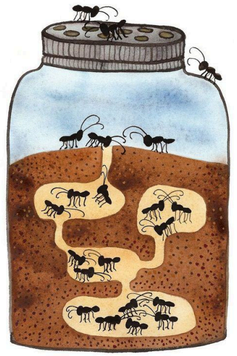
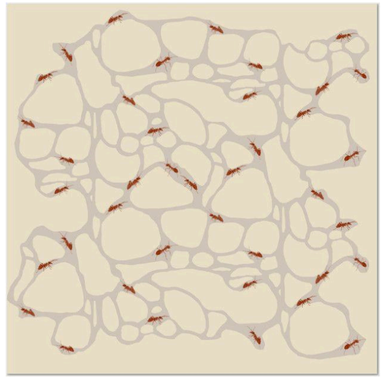
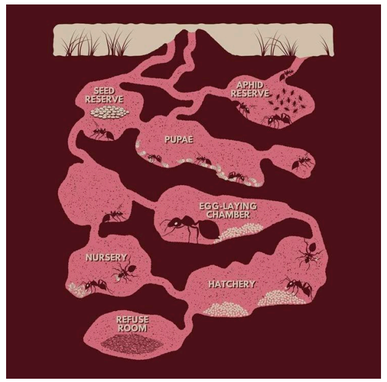
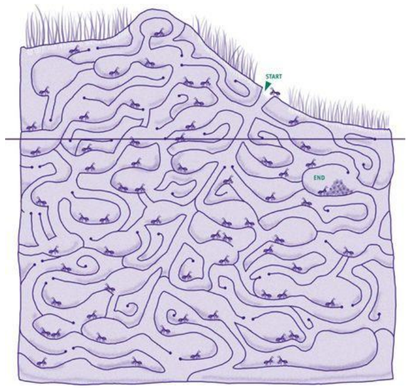
We understood that illustrations would be the most important element for communicating information.

We began by developing moodboards for the species illustrations and the interactive elements.










The moodboards presented on this page correspond to the visual exploration for the illustrations.