Conclusion

Our team is incredibly proud of the final outcome of our project.

We gained valuable insights into effective project management, designing interactive communication systems, and implementing the technical solutions needed to bring our vision to life.

Outlook into the Future:

If continuing this project, we would integrate planned brushless motors to deliver enhanced haptic feedback, to make interactions feel more responsive and lifelike.

We'd also incorporate richer animations and expand accessible information throughout the exhibition for deeper, more immersive learning.